What's NEW.....

Managing Conflict In Afterschool: Take A Stand! - .5 CEU

Conflicts and disagreements inevitably arise in afterschool settings. Differences of opinion, belief systems and personality style enhance the likelihood of conflict. The key to maintaining a safe and healthy afterschool environment is resolving conflict constructively.

Participants will learn practical strategies and activities to use in their programs to help resolve conflict. This learning event will use the new enrichment curriculum developed by 4-H, Take A Stand! as a resource for professionals to use in their programs.

Bullying: Every 7 Seconds - .5 CEU

How often are school age children bullied by others? Current information suggests that it happens every 7 seconds! Do you ever wonder if what you are observing is just 'kids being kids' or if intervention is needed? Do you know the difference between teasing vs. bullying? Tattling vs. telling? Learn how to tell the difference, address the situation and use practical strategies to create a peaceful school age environment. Find answers on how to help not only the targets of bullying but also the students who are engaging in bullying.

KIT- Kids Included Together Inclusion Series

Introduction to Inclusion with Respectful Accommodations in School Age Programs

An overview of inclusion is presented that includes a basis of the history of support for school age children with disabilities (medical model vs. empowerment model), and with a philosophy of inclusion. Person-first language and benefits of inclusion are covered. Following the introduction, learn how to make your program accessible to children with disabilities with creative and responsive accommodations. Find out what constitutes a "respectful accommodation" so that school age children can participate in community programs. Specific examples of accommodations for school age children who have various types of disabilities are included.

Partnering with Families to Support Positive School Age Behavior

The fact is that all children display some type of behavioral challenge. However, some children have a more difficult time managing their behavior, which may be related to a disability. We will focus on how to prevent negative behaviors before they occur and how to create environments that offer positive behavior support to school age children. As school age children come to your program attached to a family unit, communicating with parents will set up a relationship for success when challenges do arise. Learning to create partnerships with families will help you provide the best service to all children.
